Odds Fellow Hall	www.OddsHall.org	Jay Kimball jay@oddshall.org			One of the best known and most reliable of the annual meteor displays reaches maximum with no moonlight to interfere. Under dark, clear skies, a single observer might see as many as 90 meteors per hour. If you aim to catch one night sky event this summer, make it this one.	http://maps.google.com/maps?f=d&source=s_d&saddr=Alaka
